(Editor's Note: Julie Jean's column was submitted prior to IAFP 2020, A Virtual Annual Meeting.)

First of all, thank you for the honor of serving as the 2020–2021 Affiliate Council Chair!

IAFP 2020, A Virtual Annual Meeting, will certainly be one-of-a-kind this year. It's very different in this time of uncertainty due to COVID-19, with a second wave threatening. Unfortunately, we're unable to attend in person to see old colleagues and meet new friends in this annual tradition. However, I'm convinced this new format will surprise everyone, and we'll all be able to make the most of this situation. In addition, it will provide opportunities for many more food safety professionals to take part without the expenses associated to travel and accommodations.

Each year among all the 'normal' tasks, IAFP has the challenge of organizing its largest conference of the year. This year, the Association's biggest challenge was organizing the equivalent of three meetings in a very short time: The Annual Meeting initially planned in Cleveland in July 2020, then postponed until October, and finally the difficult decision to hold a first-ever virtual meeting October 26–28. We sincerely thank David Tharp and the IAFP Staff who have worked so hard to put this year's meeting together in a shorter-than-normal time frame. We'll undoubtedly discover new ways to communicate scientific results and network with the food safety community from the safety and comfort of our homes.

Autumn in Quebec is associated with colorful panoramic views of maple trees turning from green to red. It's definitely my favorite season for hiking in the region to recharge and take in the crisp fall air. Despite the challenges and difficulties we face during this pandemic, signs of hope and positivity can still be found just about anywhere – you just have to look up! Inspired by a campaign many believed was launched in Italy, some Montreal and Quebec families, while confined in their homes, have created colorful rainbow artwork to place in their windows, allowing passersby to see the French slogan, "Ça va bien aller," meaning "It's going to be OK." In a sign of solidarity and support for people to stay home and be safe, even Montreal's Trudeau Airport has changed the "O" in Montreal to match the children's pictures with rainbow colors.

The rainbow is an important symbol, representing equity, diversity, and inclusion. During this challenging year of coronavirus, protests, and urban unrest, IAFP is in the process of developing a Diversity Council to address issues and implement meaningful and improved inclusivity, diversity, and equity efforts going forward. More information about this group will be shared as it develops further.

The 2020 Affiliate Council Meeting took place September 18 for the first time in a virtual format. The meeting started at a reasonable hour for most of us and went very well. We were happy to welcome two new Affiliates, the Bangladesh Association for Food Protection in North America and the revamped California Association for Food Protection, which now encompasses the entire state and replaces the Southern California Association for Food Protection Affiliate, bringing our total to 57 Affiliates! Congratulations and welcome!

Also, Jiyeon Yi, the International/Affiliate representative for the Student PDG, introduced herself and explained her new position dedicated to improving the communication and activities that can optimize student involvement within the Affiliates. We are delighted to welcome this new initiative, the energy, and new ideas coming from the student group to better promote food safety!

Please join me in welcoming Wendy White, Delegate from the Georgia Association for Food Protection, as our newly elected Affiliate Council Secretary. Wendy has been involved for many years in IAFP and currently serves on the Foundation Committee as Vice Chair. Read more about Wendy on page 7.

Finally, I want to thank Maria Ma, Past Affiliate Council Chair, for her hard work for the Affiliates and her commitment to IAFP and food safety. Maria has done an outstanding job of representing the Affiliate groups, and I hope to do the same during my term.

Do not hesitate to contact me anytime about your concerns, suggestions, or questions to better serve you in the upcoming year.

Stay safe and I hope to see many of you "on the screen" during this year's Annual Meeting, October 26–28!

Pennsylvania – 86 years

Wisconsin – 77 years

Florida – 75 years

Washington – 69 years

Texas – 39 years

Africa – 5 years

Argentina – 5 years

Report from IAFP President: Kali Kniel welcomed all participants. She encouraged all Affiliates to keep communicating despite the pandemic and urged everyone to continue to support the Foundation during this time when donations have slowed. The Foundation has been able to provide many free webinars with high attendance over the past few months during the pandemic. She also congratulated this year's Affiliate Award recipients.

Report from IAFP Executive Director: David Tharp reported that it's been a very challenging year for IAFP with plans changing for this year's Annual Meeting dates and moving from in-person to virtual meetings. Net revenues from Annual Meeting normally contribute anywhere from $500,000 – $900,000 into the general operations to keep membership fees affordable. Our fiscal year ended August 31, 2020 so no meeting dollars will be contributed into general funds in 2020. The Association's financial planning built reserves in the general fund to $3.5 million as of August 31, 2019. The audit for fiscal year 2019 will be conducted in October, so we are unable to report on the current year's results until after that is completed. In 2019, we added $72,000 to the general fund. When adding the past three year's results, we added a total of almost $1 million to the general fund. Positive investment results along with financially successful Annual Meetings in 2017, 2018 and 2019 helped to boost the general fund. Building up the general fund has proven to be very useful since we are sure to incur a loss in fiscal year 2020. He encouraged Delegates to use IAFP Connect, a great communication tool that includes an Affiliate Council Community allowing delegates to communicate with each other and help find speakers, post comments, ask about membership development, help in meeting planning (including virtual meetings), and with any board issues. If you are an IAFP Member, you can access IAFP Connect.

Report from IAFP Staff Liaison: Susan Smith reported 45 of 53 active Affiliates (85%) had filed their Annual Reports, but all Affiliates need to submit an Annual Report as stated by IAFP Bylaws. All Reports are to be submitted electronically as one email if possible. No problems or issues were noticed during latest submission process. This year, 12 Affiliates applied for Awards, down three from 2019. Several affiliates were extremely close in the award selection process, so Affiliates were reminded to keep submitting for past year activities and events. Affiliate Delegates and Presidents are required to be active IAFP Members so check membership status before submitting. Affiliates were reminded to take advantage of IAFP's Executive Board Speaker Program for an affordable and informative speaker for upcoming meetings after the pandemic diminishes. Updates to websites were encouraged to gain the most recent activities and information. If Affiliates collect dues through IAFP, update us with any changes in dues.

Important Information to Report from Delegates: Because of the virtual format of the meeting, the usual two-minute oral Activity Reports from attending Delegates/Representatives were not offered this year. However, important information was presented by several Affiliates. Peter Kennedy, Delegate for the African Continental Association for Food Protection, stated he was approached by a third-party vendor to run the administrative (meetings) piece of their Affiliate and asked for input from attendees. David Tharp suggested he contact the American Society for Association Executives (ASAE) for information. GoToMeetings require a payment. Delegate Amy Rhodes stated the New York Affiliate will meet through Cornell University on Zoom virtually the week of September 21 from 10–2 with an IAFP Speaker and breaks in between. Peter Hibbard, Delegate for the Florida Affiliate, reported they are collaborating this year with the Georgia Affiliate to conduct a conference through Zoom. They have used Zoom through the University of Florida. He stated the Affiliate website has also been updated.

Election of Affiliate Council Secretary: Maria Ma announced that Wendy White, Delegate from Georgia, was willing to stand for election, and asked if there were any nominations from attendees. With no other nominees, Wendy was asked to provide a brief introduction, and by unanimous votes from the Delegates, was elected as incoming Affiliate Council Secretary.

Presentation of the Affiliate Awards: Maria highlighted the achievements of the award recipients and announced the 2020 Affiliate Awards as follows:

Affiliate Membership Achievement – Georgia Association for Food Protection

Affiliate Member Education – Wisconsin Association for Food Protection

Affiliate Communication Materials – New York State Association for Food Protection

Best Overall Affiliate Meeting – Quebec Food Protection Association

The Florida Association for Food Protection received the C.B. Shogren Memorial Award, which will be part of the pre-recorded Awards Recognition Presentation during IAFP 2020.

Old Business: None.

New Business: Jiyeon Yi, IAFP Student PDG's International/Affiliate Representative, provided a brief update on her role as a liaison between both groups and students to improve communications, activities, etc. and maximize student involvement within the Affiliates. Neil Bogart, Alabama Delegate, mentioned that contributions can be made to the IAFP Foundation through the AmazonSmile program, which donates 0.5% of the costs for your eligible purchases on Amazon to the Association at no extra costs to the donator. Promotions will be sent by IAFP Staff reflecting this option. Susan Smith stated that a GoToMeetings Checklist will soon be sent to all Affiliates for planning virtual meetings due to the pandemic.

Recommendations to the Executive Board: None.

Passing of the Gavel: Chairperson Maria Ma passed the gavel to Julie Jean, signifying the beginning of Julie's term as Affiliate Council Chair.

Next Meeting Date: Sunday, July 18, 2021, Phoenix, Arizona.

Meeting Adjourned at: 11:42 a.m. (US Eastern Time).

Chairperson Name: Maria Ma.

Affiliate Council Welcomes 2020–2021 Secretary Wendy White

Wendy White was elected by acclamation of the IAFP Affiliate Council as Secretary for the 2020–2021 term on September 18, 2020. Wendy's term commenced at the close of the Affiliate Council Virtual Meeting. She will succeed Julie Jean as Chairperson for the 2021–2022 term.

Wendy is a Food Safety & Quality Program Manager for Georgia Tech's extension branch, the Georgia Manufacturing Extension Partnership (GaMEP) in Atlanta, Georgia. She teaches professional education courses and works with food and beverage companies to improve their food safety systems, achieve audit certification, and become compliant to government regulations. Prior to joining the University in 2019, Wendy spent her career in the food industry, most recently as Director of Corporate Quality for a global food manufacturer.

Wendy joined IAFP in 2002 as a Master's student under the tutelage of Dr. Larry Beuchat at the University of Georgia's Food Science Department. She has served as the Chair of both the Developing Food Safety Professionals and the Meat and Poultry Professional Development Groups (PDGs) and is the current Vice Chair of the IAFP Foundation Committee. In 2011, she received the President's Recognition Award. She was a founding member of both the IAFP Student PDG and the Developing Food Safety Professionals PDG, and is a firm supporter of IAFP's Student Mentoring Program.

Wendy joined the Georgia Association for Food Protection (GAFP) in 2002 as a student, winning the Affiliate's Jim Ayres Student Scholarship Award that year. She was voted onto the GAFP Executive Board in 2012 and has served as the Affiliate's Vice President, President-Elect, and President.

Welcome, Wendy!

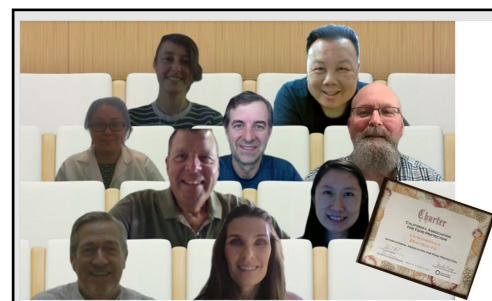

Two Affiliates Receive Charters at 2020 Affiliate Council Virtual Meeting

Congratulations to IAFP's two newest Affiliates, the Bangladesh Association for Food Protection in North America (BAFPNA) and the California Association for Food Protection (CAFP), who were introduced during the 2020 Affiliate Council Virtual Meeting on September 18 and by IAFP President Kali Kniel at the Opening Session of IAFP 2020, A Virtual Annual Meeting. Both Affiliates were approved by the IAFP Executive Board in July. CAFP replaces the former Southern California Association for Food Protection, and now encompasses the entire state.

Holding a Virtual Affiliate Meeting?

As discussed in the 2020 Affiliate Council Virtual Meeting, the decision to how to go virtual during the pandemic poses many questions. This GoToMeeting Checklist will help get you started with some of the basics.

THE GOTOMEETING ORGANIZER AND PRESENTER CHECKLIST

Calling all meeting leaders, moderators, and hosts!
Follow this guide to ensure a seamless collaborative experience before, during and after your meetings.

Before the meeting

- Establish an objective – and stick to it.
What key decisions need to be made?
What actions need to be taken? If you can't define the objective, you aren't ready to have a meeting.
- Choose your people carefully.
Be mindful when inviting people to your meeting – you're probably not the only person asking for their time. No one wants (or needs) a calendar of back-to-back meetings.
- Set the agenda.
For smaller meetings, a few bullets will suffice. Larger meetings may require a more structured approach. Either way, craft an agenda and send it out beforehand so your attendees are prepared.
- Get clarity on goals.
Reach out to each attendee and ask them what they hope to accomplish in the meeting. This will give you insight into who cares about what, which can help you manage any conflicts that may arise.
- Assign roles and share expectations.
Maximize everyone's time by assigning meeting roles and communicating expectations up front. Ensure that presenters are equipped with the tools and materials they need.
- Establish meeting protocols.
When should people ask questions? Will you tolerate latecomers? Having to recap for the benefit of late arrivals can be disruptive and a waste of time.

During the meeting

- Put your best face forward.
Video allows you to establish rapport with your peers and encourages personal connections. As the organizer, your participation on video will set a great example – so make it a point to activate your webcam unless you absolutely need to avoid it.
- Orchestrate the discussion.
Confidently guide the conversation, maintain the tempo and ensure no single voice drowns out everyone else. Make certain your voice is dominant, your visuals are captivating and your speech is interesting enough to keep people following you.
- Appoint a timekeeper.
This will help the meeting run on schedule, so you can focus on the subject matter. The timekeeper should keep an eye on each agenda item and inform everyone when it's time to move on.
- Take notes.
You'll want to have a record of questions, tasks and follow-up items that have been directed at you and other attendees. If you're not the world's greatest multi-tasker, our Smart Meeting Assistant provides word-for-word speech transcription without lifting a finger.

After the meeting

- Follow up appropriately.
Timing is everything here! Oftentimes, attendees are reluctant to move forward on action items until they see them in writing. For those who didn't attend, follow-up becomes even more important as a guide that tells them not only what they missed, but what's coming next.

How It Works

1. IAFP Board Members are available to speak at Affiliate meetings on numerous topics involving food safety.
2. Each Affiliate may request one Executive Board speaker for one Affiliate meeting within a 12-month calendar year.
3. A minimum of 15 minutes should be allowed for the Board Member to deliver information about the International Association for Food Protection in addition to their main subject(s) (see #1).
4. IAFP will pay the Board Member's expense to travel to the Affiliate meeting location.
5. The Affiliate covers local expenses, including meals, lodging, and local transportation for the Board Member.
6. The Board Member makes their own travel reservations and will submit an expense report to the IAFP office within 10 days of completion of their travel to the Affiliate meeting. Any local expense (see #5) will be billed to the Affiliate.
7. A two-month advance notice is required.
8. To invite a Board Member to speak at your Affiliate meeting, contact Susan Smith, IAFP Affiliate Services, at +1 515.276.3344; or email ssmith@foodprotection.org. (Please do not contact Board Members directly until approved by IAFP.)
